VEPA – VET Planner for Work Based Learning – is a 25 months project, started on November 2018 - realized in the framework of ERASMUS + programme, Key Action Cooperation for innovation and exchange of good practice.

This project, carried out by a consortium of 5 experienced VET courses organizations (names and websites in the left box), will set up a modern training profile and a new professional model development for instructors/ trainers and VET Organizations, for increased efficacy of VET courses founded on work based learning experiences and enhanced cooperation between VET organizations, learners and businesses.

Work Based Learning (WBL) is a fundamental aspect of vocational educational and training (VET) – it is directly linked to the mission of VET to help learners acquire knowledge, skills and competences with direct relevance for the labour market. There are broadly three main forms of WBL: Apprenticeships, School-based VET with on-the-job training, Work-based learning in school (European Commission - 2013).

The project addressed the needs of different target groups: instructors, VET trainers, VET planners, VET organizations, trainees, companies hosting trainees or sending apprentices to be trained in VET organizations, trainers associations, social partners, decision makers in the field of VET, researchers...

WHAT'S NEXT

In the following 6 months, VEPA partners will be working together with the purpose of mapping the “Competence Profile of the VET planner” by involving 150 VET trainers - distributed in partner and no partner countries –asking them to fulfill a questionnaire that investigates the main need, activities and skills of the VET planner. The profile will be designed in accordance with the ECVET system. At the same time, a “Guide to training VET planners face to face”, will be drafted.

The VEPA website will be on line soon, for more information please contact:
