PROJECT'S UPDATE

You are reading the latest newsletter of the VEPA project: in the past two years VEPA partners have worked hard, building an extraordinary synergy between the different professional skills that characterize them, so to create a set of innovative products, scientifically valid and, at the same time, easy to use for the planner of VET paths based on WBL.

The objectives of the project have been achieved and all the products completed, as foreseen by the Application Form, in particular the following have been elaborated:

- ✓ A Competence Profile of the VET planner: a volume that includes a description in terms of knowledge, skills, responsibility and autonomy of the VET planner, resulting from studies carried out in each partner country both at desk research level and by directly interviewing VET practitioners. The peculiarity of this product is that the profile of the VET planner is, thanks to this project, mapped for the first time in Europe.
- ✓ A Guide to train VET planners face to face: the guide consists of a first part containing the programmes of the various courses directed to VET planners, on the subjects identified thanks to the Competence profile: Planning, Managing WBL activities, Monitoring and collecting evidences, validation and certification, Networking with stakeholders, Improving of the WBL experience. The second part of the guide instead offers a series of practical tools that can support the work of VET planners at every stage.
- ✓ An E-course for VET planners: the topics and the methodology of the face to face course have been processed into an e-course that allows self-training and high interactivity in distance learning, which perfectly meets the needs of this time in history.
- ✓ Un On line assessment tool for VET planners: a virtual workspace that allows the VET planners to carry out an online assessment of the VET courses founded on WBL and to draw a plan for improvement based on the results of the assessment.

All VEPA products are freely accessible on the project website www.vepaproject.eu and are available in English, Spanish, French, German, Romanian and Italian. The website also contains the references of the partners who, despite the formal closure of the project, will continue to promote VEPA and remain available for any information that anyone may wish to have about its products and their use.

The VEPA Facebook page will continue to be active and will report the latest news from the WBL world as well as articles and studies of VET planners' interest.
